

A Seventeen-Year Overview of Latino Resident Physicians in California, Florida, New York, and Texas.

In comparison to other states in the U.S. with high Latino populations, California performs poorly when providing for Latino physician residents relative to the total Latino population in the state. Florida, New York and Texas all have higher Latino resident physician rates per 100,000 Latino population.